

MEDICAL CAMP SURE TO BE MORE THAN DOUBLED TO MEET WAR'S DEMANDS

Minimum of 150,000 Men Needed Within Twelve Months for This Branch of Service—Every Reason for Prediction That Huge Medical Training School Is Certainty.

How great will Greenleaf grow? To what size will the M. O. T. C. expand when it constitutes, as is now the program, the entire medical training department of America's army of invasion?

Military statistics and the present constructive work rushed forward in Greenleaf foreshadow an enormous and a near expansion of this medical center. Some officers, high in command, even predict that all of Chickamauga park will be turned into a prodigious institution for the training of army medical men. Greenleaf has doubled its original proportions. Its evacuation camps have spread out over the ground originally occupied by the Fifty-first and Fifty-second infantries. Already the M. O. T. C. is jostling the Eleventh cavalry for elbow room.

What size will the world war demand that Greenleaf shall be? Last Monday the number of men in Camp Greenleaf was only 16,512, divided into 1,513 officers or doctors, and 15,000 men enlisted in the hospital corps. The entire personnel of the medical arm, graduated from Greenleaf to date is 19,100 men, divided into 4,100 doctors and 15,000 hospital corps. However, the proportion which the medical wing bears toward the whole of any army is 10 per cent. When nine men are killed, one man must heal. Now the lowest estimate of the American forces which must be thrown into Europe before the completion of the present war is 1,500,000 men. Ten per cent. of 1,500,000 is 150,000. If the present rate of Greenleaf graduation be 16,512 men every three months, it would require a term of twenty-seven months to reach the required 150,000.

But America must field this great number in twelve months. This necessity demands that the Greenleaf output of medical men be a little more than doubled, or to be exact, increased two and one-fourth fold.

However, this required 150,000 is by no means a maxi-um. It is an irreducible minimum. The real coefficient of expansion is unknown. The longer the war lasts the greater will be America's quota, for she is the only untapped nation pitted against autocracy. The greater the German exploitation of Russia's wheat fields, the longer the war.

With the dying out of Russian resistance, with the increased activities of the Turks, with the inevitable rise in the morale of the German armies, the greater the arm of America must hurl against the tide, and the greater must grow a huge medical training camp that may encircle Chattanooga.

HOW VON HERTLING REPLIED TO FOUR PEACE PRINCIPLES STATED BY WILSON

Amsterdam, Feb. 26.—Following is a full report of that part of Chancellor Von Hertling's speech yesterday in the reichstag touching on President Wilson's peace principles:

"I readily admit that President Wilson's message of Feb. 11 represents, perhaps, a small step toward a mutual rapprochement. I pass over the preliminary and excessively long declarations in order to address myself immediately to the four principles, which in President Wilson's opinion, must be applied in a mutual exchange of views.

"The first clause says that each part of the final settlement must be based upon the essential justice of that particular case and upon such adjustments as are most likely to bring a peace that will be permanent.

"And yet President Wilson knows—as, at any rate, the German edition of his book on the state proves—German political literature, and he knows, therefore, that with us princes and governments are the highest members of the nation as a whole, organized in the form of a state, the highest members with whom the final decision lies. But, seeing that they also, as the supreme organs, belong to the whole, the decision is of such a nature that only the welfare of the whole is the guiding line for a decision to be taken. It may be useful expressly to point this out to President Wilson's countrymen.

End of Balance of Power.

"Then, finally, at the end of the second clause, the game of the balance of power is declared to be forever discredited. We, too, can only gladly applaud. As is well known, it was England who invented the principle of the maintenance of the balance of power in order especially to apply it when one of the states on the European continent threatened to become too powerful for her. It was only another expression for England's domination.

"The third clause, according to which every territorial settlement involved in this war must be made in the interest and for the benefit of the population concerned, and not as part of any mere adjustment or compromise of claims among rival states, is only the application of the foregoing in a definite direction, or a deduction from it, and is therefore included in the assent given to that clause.

"Now, in the fourth clause, he demands that all well defined national aspirations shall be accorded the utmost satisfaction that can be accorded them without introducing new or perpetuating old elements of discord and antagonism that would be likely in time to break the peace of Europe and, consequently, of the world. Here, also, I can give assent in principle, and I declare, therefore, with President Wilson that a general peace on such a basis is discussable.

"Only one reservation is to be made. These principles must not be proposed by the president of the United States alone, but they must be also recognized definitely by all states and nations. President Wilson, who reproaches the German chancellor with a certain amount of backwardness, seems to me in his flight of ideas to have hurried far in advance of existing realities.

"Desires League of Nations. "Certainly, a league of nations erected upon justice and mutual usefulness, appreciation, a condition of humanity in which war, together with all that remains of the earliest barbarism, should have completely disappeared and in which there should be no bloody sacrifices, no self-mutilation of peoples, no destruction of laboriously acquired cultural values—that would be an aim devoutly to be desired."

DRAFT VOLUNTEERS TO HAVE OWN BOARD
Meet Next Tuesday to Set Date to Go to Camp—Crowder Approves.

Chairman Foster V. Brown, of city board No. 1, received yesterday a letter from Maj. Rutledge Smith, stating that Gen. Crowder had instructed if registrants wanted to serve in the infantry they could be inducted under call No. 5 and sent to Camp Greene, Charlotte, N. C., but that he would not guarantee the men could serve in a body. Under this new ruling the young men "volunteers" who have given up their positions, pending the arrival of this notice, can depart at once for Camp Greene.

C. E. Jones and Foster Gentry were delighted with the showing made of volunteers from board No. 1 and No. 2 of Class 1 men. This company will organize a band of its own, as there are several musicians who are in the company. They will drill again Thursday night and all who desire to join the "volunteer company" are urged to be present next Thursday night.

Mr. Jones and Mr. Brown are anxious to get to drilling so they will have some experience regarding the life of a soldier and will not have to start in as "rookies."

Next Thursday night they will decide just when they will depart for Camp Greene. They want to have their band formed by that time so it can accompany them. The boys are desirous of getting several drill nights before departing for the camp.

CORPORAL WILLOUGHBY NOW HAPPY FATHER
Dale V. A. Willoughby, corporal on duty in the quartermaster department at the medical officers' training camp, is one of the happiest men at Camp Greenleaf today. It all happened this way: Monday night he got a telegram from his wife in Detroit which read something like this: "It's a boy; you're a father at last."

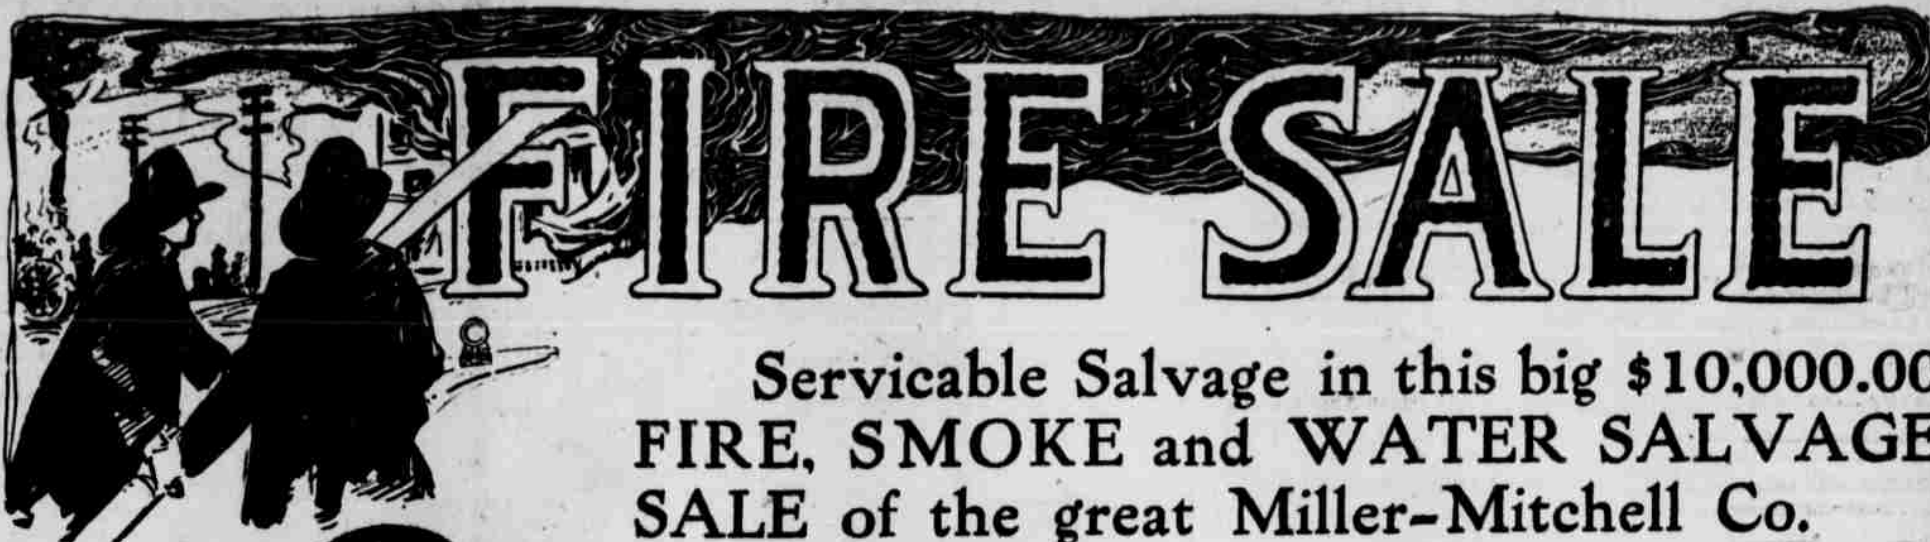

Cigars were handed out by the corporal all day, and that everlasting smile on his countenance seems to be there forever. Corporal Willoughby is one of the popular boys in the quartermaster department, who has, through his genial disposition, made a host of friends, who are besieging him with congratulations.

WAR SAVINGS SONGS.

There was once a man who, in fun, Bought a War Savings Stamp for his son. But the boy was so glad At the gift from his dad That his parent was glad he'd begun.

There was once a man with a quarter. Who said: "I've a very young daughter, I'll buy her today. A Thrift Card, and pray It will make her grow up as she oughter."

RHEUMATISM SO BAD CONFINED TO HER BED

Tried Remedy After Remedy and Only After Almost Giving Up Hope Heard of Acid Iron Mineral.

Third Day Product of Great Ore Bed Began Showing Results.

Few readers are troubled with rheumatism so badly that they are confined to bed, but many a man is only half husband and many a woman is only half wife because rheumatism keeps them in a fret and groan all day long. Rubbing won't do any permanent good, and, since the discovery of a medicine iron ore bed, buried deep for centuries in the Mississippi, leads the way now to quick relief, if thousands of tests are to be trusted. Where is the man or woman who shouldn't use it? Not like radium, which is beyond the reach of all but the rich, this natural product is cheap. A twelve-ounce bottle, highly concentrated compound, may be secured at most any drug store. Read what one user says:

"I heard of Acid Iron Mineral being a wonderful rheumatism cure and took it, and it did me too much good so quickly I wish I could shout its praise from the housetops," declares Mrs. S. H. Fetteroy, of West Point, Va.

"I suffered from rheumatism in various forms for more than two years and would be confined to my bed for weeks at a time, and suffered untold torture and agony. I tried remedy after remedy with but little or no result and was almost in despair when I heard of your wonderful 'A-I-M' and sent for a bottle and before the first bottle was gone I felt like another person. It began relieving me by leaps and bounds after the third day, and I steadily kept on improving until now I can't say enough praise of it and wish every rheumatic sufferer would take it."

Note—Up until the discovery of the ore from which Acid Iron Mineral is made, tinctures and extracts of iron were used, but they injured the teeth and caused all sorts of complications. Now this medicinal preparation is available and harmless, yet powerful, and may be taken at home. There isn't a man or woman living who may be suffering with rheumatism who cannot wisely start taking Acid Iron Mineral. Local druggists have it. Sold in Chattanooga by Live & Let Live Drug Co.; East Chattanooga by Vendale Pharmacy; Huntsville, Ala., by J. D. Humphrey & Son, and good druggists everywhere.—(Adv.)
